Decision expected soon in bingo-hall challenge

Final oral arguments set for next week

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Albany residents expect to know within a few weeks if their costly legal effort to thwart a proposed high-stakes bingo hall -- and perhaps a full-blown casino -- in their township has succeeded.

Residents are challenging a decision of the Maine Land Use Regulation Commission to allow the Passamaquoddy Indian Tribe to build a 2,000-seat hall on an 18-acre parcel of tribe owned land off the Old West Bethel Road.

A judge in Kennebec County Superior Court is scheduled to hear final oral arguments in the case Tuesday afternoon, after which a decision is expected in a matter of days or weeks, according to Dotty Duddy, president of the Albany Improvement Association.

"Residents have spent an estimated $25,000 on the legal challenge, most of it raised, Duddy said, "through church suppers and garage sales."

Portland Attorney John Paterson, one of the authors of Maine's Indian Land Claims Act -- has been hired to represent the AIA.

Also working on the case are attorney Margaret Wille, a part-time resident of Albany, and Attorney Jeff Rosenblatt, a year-round resident of the township.

Rosenblatt has also filed his own challenge to the LURC decision, and had promised to take the matter to the Maine Supreme Court if the Superior Court decision goes against the bingo-hall opponents.

Duddy said Tuesday she doubts the AIA could raise enough money to take the case further than Superior Court.

Both Rosenblatt and Duddy have expressed confidence the court will rule against the LURC decision. "But," said Duddy, "I also had confidence when we made our case to LURC."

On the other side of the courtroom next week will be attorneys for the Passamaquoddy Tribe and the Maine Attorney General's Office, which is representing LURC.

Much of the local opposition to the bingo-hall proposal stems from

Election Day is Tuesday

By MICHAEL DANIELS

State officials are predicting low voter turnout for Tuesday's election, which features statewide races of little drama, and only two referendum questions -- neither involving a hot-button social issue.

Independent Governor Angus King is facing four challengers, but none of the four is considered to have a serious chance of threatening the popular incumbent's hopes for a second term.

(King is expected to be visit Main Street businesses in Bethel next Monday at 1 p.m., as part of a last-minute campaign tour of the state.)

In the Second District Congressional race, incumbent John Baldacci, a Democrat, also appears to have a substantial lead over his challenger, Republican Jonathan Reisman.

On the referendum side of the ballot, voters will be asked Tuesday whether they wish to authorize an additional $27 million in state borrowing.

Watershed conferees will seek to build mutual trust

By ALISON ALOISIO

Paper companies, conservation organizations and municipal representatives will gather at the Bethel Inn Nov. 5 to try to find common ground, and common projects, to benefit the Androscoggin River.

The fourth Androscoggin River Watershed Conference will look at environmental and economic issues affecting the river on both sides of the Maine and New Hampshire border. The goal is to eventually form a watershed council that will lead to substantive projects along the river.

Possibilities might include increasing public access to the river, adding sanitation facilities, formalization of river trails, additional state stocking of fish for catch and release programs, recommendations for mill and municipality discharges and sponsor local citizens' water quality monitoring.

Among the participating organizations: the Appalachian Mountain Club, International Paper, Friends of Merrymeeting Bay, Crown Vantage, the North Country Council, the Mahoosuc Land Trust, Union Water Power Co., Bates and Bowdoin colleges, the Maine Department of Environmental Protection, the New Hampshire Department of Environmental Services, the Androscoggin Land Trust, and town and/or conservation commission representatives from the 28 towns in the watershed.

The major challenge to the groups, said AMC's Upper Androscoggin coordinator Marcel Polak, "is to develop a sense of trust and willingness to collaborate among all the different interests represented. The wide range of diversity, while ultimately beneficial, could involve greater difficulty to come to consensus to develop action plans on controversial issues -- for example,

Cruz missile

Kevin Cruz may look like he's flying Superman-style over the hills and forests of Western Maine, but he was actually wakeboarding on Songo Pond. Boarders are pulled behind a motorboat, and launch themselves off the wake. Cruz, originally from Saco, taught the rapidly-growing sport at the Bethel Inn's Songo Pond Lakehouse this summer. The lessons proved popular, and Cruz expects to expand instruction into a wakeboard camp format next summer, with the help of professional wakeboarder C.J. Kelley of Saco. Kelley recently returned from Houston, Texas, where he placed second in World competition. To finish out this season and celebrate Halloween, Cruz and Kelley plan to wakeboard in costume from the Lakehouse Saturday at noon. The public is invited to come and watch them. School Board approves teachers' salary hikes

By ALISON ALOISIO

SAD#44 teachers will receive a 4 percent salary increase for this school year, following a School Board vote Monday. Despite the raise, however, the teachers are expected to remain near the bottom of the teacher salary heap in this part of western Maine, according to a SAD#44 negotiator.

This year's increase is retroactive to July 1, and paychecks will be adjusted to reflect that. Teachers have worked the early part of the school year at last year's pay rates.

The three-year agreement also calls for a 3.5 and 3.0 percent raise in FY'00 and FY'01, respectively.

Of the 4 percent for this year, 1.5

percent of the increase results from the teachers automatically moving up a step on the salary scale (reflecting each year of experience), while 2.5 percent comes from more money added to each step.

Last year, the teachers received only the increases generated by moving up a step, according to

Gould to offer eighth-grade program for skiers

By ALISON ALOISIO

A half-dozen area eighth-graders will be part of a new Gould Academy winter program that combines academics and ski racing.

The school's Board of Trustees approved the program "to accommodate area families who have made a significant commitment to ski racing and who want their fledgling racers to join the Gould program at the eighth-grade level, because it matches the age limit for Junior III racing," said Lauren Simard, director of public relations for Gould. "The program will run from November to April and will allow eighth-grade youngsters who are academically and athletically talented to move at a higher competitive level than is normally available."

"Junior III" racers are 13- and 14-year-old youngsters.

The students -- probably between four and six of them -- will receive academic instruction during the winter, and rejoin their home school program in the spring. The academic program is being coordinated by Telstar High School teacher Elaine Dresser, who is on a year's leave of absence from her position. The regular Gould staff will serve as teachers.

Dresser will coordinate the program to provide academic continuity between Gould and the home school. Because it is a day-student offering, most are expected to come from Telstar Middle School, although Simard said it is possible students from other schools may enroll.

PARK WOULD ENSURE ACCESS

To the Editor:

Annette Morin of Rumford recently wrote a letter to the editor opposing a national park in Maine's North Woods. One of her concerns was that a national park would limit Mainers' "freedom to access lands that are not posted." I have a different perspective.

I believe that a national park and preserve would ensure our freedom to access a large portion of the North Woods far into the future. Right now, most of the Maine Woods is owned and controlled by multinational paper corporations. They could sell their lands to subdividers and developers at any time. They could post "No Trespassing" signs, blocking entrance to those special places loved by Mainers and visitors alike. A national park surrounding Baxter State Park and Moosehead Lake would put control of one of the most important parts of Maine's remaining wildlands back into the hands of the public forever.

Just imagine millions of acres of forests, mountains, rivers, lakes and trails owned by the people. Wildlife, watersheds, recreational opportunities, and many sites of cultural significance would be permanently protected for the public. Mainers would be able to share their special places to hunt, hike, snowmobile, fish, or ski within the park and preserve with their children and grandchildren. The people of Maine would be guaranteed public access for traditional recreation. Logging could continue in surrounding areas and new jobs would be created to supplement the forest products industry. With publicly protected wildlands in their backyards, towns such as Greenville and Millinocket would have an opportunity to prosper, while guiding growth as they see fit. Preserving Maine's "true wilderness" is good for the environment and it will put money into the hands of the people.

Annette Morin says that "Maine is known for its forests, forest products and for being a four-season recreational state." I believe establishing a Maine Woods National Park and Preserve would give the state its best chance to carry this message into the future.

SUPPORT THE ALBANY LEGAL TEAM

To the Editor:

On Nov. 3, at the Superior Court in Augusta, at 3 p.m., the oral arguments on the Appeal of LURC's decision to allow gambling in Albany Township will be heard.

This has been a long, emotional process. The tiny community of Albany Township has stood firm and rallied their surrounding communities to join in opposition to fight this decision. This is not just an Albany issue. This decision can do one of two things; open the western mountain area to legalized gambling, or ensure that this area remains the pristine, family oriented, rural community it currently is.

Truly this is a landmark case. Attorneys Jeff Rosenblat and Margaret Wille have fought tirelessly for the residents of Albany, offering their legal expertise gratis. John Paterson of Bernstein, Shur, Sawyer & Nelson has been hired by the Albany Improvement Association to assist them. Paterson was one of the authors of the Maine Indian Land Claims Act. On behalf of the board of the Albany Improvement Association, I want to thank them all for their efforts.

This decision will be a landmark decision. I urge all who are interested to attend the oral arguments on Nov. 3 in Augusta. We need to show by our presence our support of our legal team as they defend our way of life.

BATTLE BELONGS TO THE LORD

To the Editor:

Now, more than ever before, brothers and sisters in Christ must come together to help stop the moral decay that is eating away at the very fiber of our society. Before it is too late, we must unite in full force to reclaim the righteousness that has been lost. With strong convictions, we must become doers of the Word and not just hearers. We must pursue righteousness, faith, love and peace with those who call on the Lord out of pure heart. We must be bold in our faith. As Paul reminded Timothy, God did not give us a spirit of fear, but of power, love and a sound mind. We must pray for one another that God will grant us the grace and boldness we need in Christ to be all that He has called us to be, and to be victorious in Him. We must never be ashamed of the testimony of our Lord who has saved us and called us with a holy calling, not according to our works but according to His own purpose and grace which was given to us in Jesus Christ before time began.

The battle does indeed belong to the Lord, but we must be in the battle with him.

Where were we when prayer was removed from the schools? Where were we when abortion was legalized? More importantly, where are we now when God, the Bible and even Christmas carols are excluded from the God-hating public schools? These same schools open wide their doors to New Age beliefs, anti-abstinence and homosexual sex education. Godlessness must be restored to this great nation, One Nation Under God. Almost everywhere we turn, there is corruption and immorality. As His children, it is our duty to take a godly stand.

We must look to the Lord with a repentant heart, and know we are in great need of a revival and healing. Let us take to heart the powerful words found in 2 Chronicles 7:14: "If my people which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sins, and will heal their land."

I pray that your readers' voices will be added to the millions of Americans who are saying it is time for the people of faith to speak up and take a stand for Christ, no matter what the cost.

"All that is needed for evil to triumph is for good men to do nothing." --Edmund Burke

HELP CELEBRATE MY GOLDEN VOTER ANNIVERSARY

To the Editor:

I am inviting you and all other eligible voters to get out to vote next week, and help me celebrate my Golden Jubilee as a voter.

On a rather raw November morning in 1948, I walked down to my polling place in Brewer. Since childhood I had anticipated this day when I would actually go inside. My mother had always treated her voting franchise as a sacred rite, one of the few great privileges even poor people could have. As much as this had been preached at me, I really didn't know what to expect. I can't imagine being any luckier.

When I went through the door there was a row of drably curtained booths. There were the ballot clerks behind their tables, a gentleman apart from the others by the Ballot Box and a lady on the alert for lost sheep. She spotted me.

Every time I go to vote, I think of her with gratitude. I pass her words along for others.

"Go up to the ballot clerks when your turn comes. Then, very clearly, state your name just as you are registered. At primary elections you also state your Party enrollment. This is very important. Your name will be checked on the checklist and no one else will be able to vote under that name. When you have finished your ballot, take it to the ballot box attendant, and state your name again when the box is opened for you to slip in your ballot."

She showed me a specimen ballot and how to mark my choices. It was a high moment when I went into the space and zealously marked my support for Thomas E. Dewey.

Then I walked back home, put on my white uniform and went to work. That was 1948. I wouldn't really know until the next day that Harry Truman had won handily.

I am "seizing the day" here to remind my peers -- there must have been a lot of folks returning from WWII who were just too young to vote in '48 -- that that name on the voter registration list is very precious and special. Get a check mark by it on Tuesday.

Step up to the table, discourage the clerks from recognizing you and "checking you off" before you state your name. When you have at least two other look-likes in a small town, this is not only good sense, but the right way.

Don't stay away from the polls because you "don't know." On Sunday, Oct. 25, Channel IV, your Public Access channel for Bethel, Greenwood, Newry, West Paris, and Woodstock, invited eight candidates for the contested House of Representatives and Senate seats to be interviewed.

They all came despite special events concerning both Democrats and Republicans. I thank them all.

Those interviews will be scheduled at least twice during the week before Election Day, Nov. 3. Please tune in to them.

Again, share my Golden Voter Anniversary.

SETTING THE RECORD STRAIGHT

To the Editor:

First, let me say what an honor it has been to have had the opportunity to serve the voters of Woodstock, Milton and Rumford in the Legislature. While the news would sometimes leave voters feeling that there is nothing but power struggles and back biting going on in the political world, the reality is that I have had countless opportunities to help individuals. Serving the citizens of the district is what the job is all about and what I enjoy the most. Now I need their help so I can continue to help them. I need their votes on Nov. 3, but more importantly I need them to trust what I have to say in this letter. My opportunity to continue legislative service is much less important, than their knowing the documentable truth about a very highly charged and personally sensitive issue.

There are those that have chosen to misrepresent my record and spread rumors rather than facts. The facts about the partial birth abortion issue are admittedly confusing to say the least. The legislative process has also contributed to the confusion. At this point let me say unequivocally that I did not and do not support unrestricted use of this distressing procedure. Abortion is after all not birth control.

As most people know, there was a bill introduced in the Legislature in the last session that sought to ban partial birth abortion. It is important to keep in mind how the title of the bill was written, and how the title was impacted by the committee process. The title read, "An act to ban partial birth abortion." This title is very straightforward and easy to understand. Unfortunately that is where the clarity ended.

The committee process to which I referred is where the public has their input. After the public hearings are over, the committee process begins. It is at this time that the 13 legislators that make up the committee deliberate over the information provided to them in the public hearing. The process is similar to the deliberations of a jury in a trial. When the deliberations were over, the committee then had to make a choice as to what they would recommend to the entire Legislature, on the action that should be taken on this proposal. The majority of this committee, of which I am not a member, voted "ONTIP" which means "ought not to pass." This committee recommendation is what the rest of us in the Legislature had to vote on, not the bill title that I quoted earlier. This is similar to the situation the first time we voted on widening the turnpike, when we had to vote no to mean yes. This was another instance of that same type of dilemma. I voted no because I thought there should be a ban. The majority of the members of the House of Representatives voted no so that we could go on to accept the recommendation of the minority of the original committee.

The report of the minority of the committee was for there to be a "Ban" in place except in a case where the "life and health" of the mother were in jeopardy. This is what I voted for.

It is my hope that this clears up the confusion and provides voters with the information they need to make informed decisions. Anyone with other questions, can call me at 364-7989. What I have said in this letter can be verified if necessary, the ugly rumors cannot.

CAMERON

To the Editor:

As Election Day approaches, it is important and natural in our democracy for voters to consider candidates' voting records. Unfortunately, because of the complexity of the legislative process, sometimes a vote is misinterpreted and the public is left with the wrong impression. This has apparently occurred with respect to Rep. Rob Cameron's position on partial-birth abortion.

I am writing to set the record straight: Rob voted to ban partial-birth abortions. Rob and I voted together with other area colleagues and most Republicans to ban the procedure. I assure everyone that Rob has never supported unrestricted use of partial-birth abortions.

I hope this clears up any confusion about Rob's position. He is an outstanding legislator and a strong advocate for the citizens of Rumford, Woodstock and Milton. His independent, thoughtful voice is needed in Augusta.

State Rep. Al Barth
Bethel

CAMERON

To the Editor:

Rob Cameron is an excellent candidate for the Maine House of Representatives, District 70. He has a proven track record in the 116th, 117th, and 118th Legislatures. He is an honest, sincere and hardworking individual who has served the people of Woodstock, Rumford, and Milton with integrity and a voice for good common sense.

I have watched Rob perform for the past three terms in Augusta. He has consistently been an advocate for all Maine people. As a farmer and small business man, he has used his experience in these fields to bring good old Maine values and integrity to his office. He has served as the ranking minority member of the Joint Standing Committee on Business and Economic Development.

He has made the following his legislative priorities:

- 1) Job creation and economic development for rural and western Maine.
- 2) Reduce the overall tax burden on Maine's working families.
- 3) Equitable State Aid for education.
- 4) Improve our transportation infrastructure.
- 5) Have affordable and effective managed care services to all Maine citizens.
- 6) Protect the beauty and integrity of Maine's environment and natural resources.

Rob also has been endorsed by the Sportsmen's Alliance of Maine and the N.R.A. He has the approval of the Maine Optometrists Association. He is recognized by the Alliance for the Mentally Ill. Rob has also received the endorsement of Gov. Argus S. King Jr.

For experience we can count on, I urge voters to re-elect Rep. Rob Cameron on No. 3.

To the Editor:

I am writing a letter of recommendation for Rob Cameron, who is presently running for the office of State Representative for this district.

I have known Rob for a number of years and feel that he is well qualified to represent this area in the next session of the Legislature.

He is a fellow of outstanding character and deep concern for the citizens of his community.

I know him to be very conscientious about standing for the right thing and promoting things that will be for the good of his community. He seems to be concerned in seeking the betterment of the citizens of the state of Maine, and I am sure he would be very dedicated to fulfilling any commitment to make the community in which he lives a better and safer place to live.

Briefly

Bradley Benson charged

BETHEL--Bradley Benson, 58, of West Bethel was arrested Oct. 16 by Oxford County deputies and the Bethel Police Department after several thousand dollars worth of stolen property was recovered from his residence last month. He was charged with Class B receiving stolen property in excess of $10,000. Four other people were also arrested and are believed to be involved in a string of burglaries in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont. One of the four was Samuel D. Stone, 38, of Poland (and formerly of Bethel), who was charged on 18 counts of burglary and theft.

Teen caught after escape

RUMFORD--A male juvenile was captured Tuesday after eluding law enforcement officials for five hours, following his escape on the way to a morning appearance in Rumford District Court. He was found by state trooper David Pelletier about 2:30 p.m. in a wooded area on Route 108 in Peru, about eight miles from the courthouse. The young man and two other juveniles, all from the Maine Youth Center, climbed out of a police van about 9:30 a.m. The other two were immediately apprehended. Law officials declined to say what the charges were against the juveniles, or where they lived.

Mead plans layoffs

RUMFORD--Mead Corp. announced last week it will shut down three coated paper machines, resulting in layoffs and job eliminations. Several weeks ago the company eliminated 52 salaried jobs. The shutdown will balance production with demand, a company spokesman said. Although Mead's sales are showing gains, production has outpaced the sales. Layoffs would take place over a three-month period. The cuts are expected to save the company $50 million a year.

More office hours for Newry

NEWRY--The Newry Town Office will likely be open four days a week Monday through Thursday -- instead of the current three, beginning in January. Sylvia Gray, the town's administrative assistant, said it is impossible to get all the town's work done in a three-day week because of the increased growth and development. The office is expected to be open from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. Beginning in December, Gray and clerk Loretta Berry will work on Monday, but the office will not be open to the public. Gray's salary will remain the same, but Berry, an hourly employee, will be paid for an extra 16 hours. Gray said the funds are available for the remainder of the fiscal year because no one was paid for a time after Berry's predecessor, Beth Bean, resigned for health reasons.

Mt. Abram, Ski Depot sign agreement

LOCKE MILLS--The Ski Depot Co. of Jay will operate the Ski Shop and rental facility at Mt. Abram Ski Resort, it was announced last week. Ski Depot was chosen because "their knowledge of the industry was apparent and with the anticipated expansion plans of the Mt. Abram Complex, the company wanted an entity that can grow and service the customers properly," said Brian Malone, CEO of Mt. Abram. The ski area was purchased at auction in August by Randy Duncan.

Morton, Alford among the best

BETHEL--Telstar High School history teacher Bill Morton and Gould Academy Spanish teacher Doug Alford have been named to the fifth edition of "Who's Who Among America's Teachers." They are among 130,000 teachers selected nationwide by their former students, who themselves are currently listed in "Who's Who Among American High School Students," or "The National Dean's List" publications. The publications recognize 5 percent of high school and college students. The students were asked to nominate teachers who helped shape their values, inspired interest in a particular subject and/or challenged them to strive for excellence.

Improve Bryant Pond Village

WOODSTOCK--Any residents interested in volunteering for the Village Improvement Society are asked to attend an organizational meeting at 7 p.m., Nov. 5, at the Town Office. The group is expected to take on activities intended to spruce up the town, such as planting flowers and trees, according to Town Manager Vern Maxfield. A larger project discussed in Woodstock recent months -- building tennis courts -- might be on the group's agenda in the future, he said.

F.A.C.T. program grows

NEWRY--Telstar High School's annual Freshman Awareness Workshop has expanded this year to include students from Mountain Valley and Dirigo high schools. The workshop began Wednesday and continues today (Thursday) at the Summit Hotel. The program helps freshmen better adjust to high school through small group activities and speaker presentations on issues including human sexuality, chemical awareness and stress. A total of 300 freshmen and 100 upperclassmen from the four schools are expected to participate. The workshop is organized by the Freshman Awareness Committee at Telstar, a group of upperclassmen.

A story for kids from the governor

BETHEL--SAD44-region youngsters who wish to hear a story read by Gov. Angus King may do so by calling their area school phone numbers on a schedule that begins in November. The Dial-a-Story program, operated by Northern Oxford County Even Start, allows children to call a local number and hear a taped story usually read by a community member. Recently the governor was approached to be a reader, and he agreed to read "Miss Rumphius." Children may call the schools on the following schedule: Crescent Park School (824-2839 ext. 1403), Nov. 9 to 22; Woodstock Elementary School (665-2152), Nov. 23 to Dec. 6; Andover Elementary School (392-4381), Dec. 7 to 20.

Deduct a ski or board

ANDOVER--Unwanted skis and snowboarding equipment and clothing may be brought to Akers Ski, Inc. in exchange for a tax deduction, according to Leon Akers. Akers will distribute the equipment to charities such as the Special Olympics. Any that cannot be reused will be broken down and recycled. Akers Ski is one of almost 200 ski shops in the Eastern U.S. taking part in the "Deduct a Ski, Deduct a Board" program. It is anticipated that $1 million worth of equipment and clothing will be collected.

Sugarloaf Corp. fined

CARRABASSETT VALLEY--Sugarloaf Mountain Corp. will pay a $27,500 penalty to the Department of Environmental Protection for water-quality violations. The ski resort was charged with polluting Brackett Brook and failing to comply with an earlier order to restore an excavated stream. In 1995, a berm containing a snowmaking pond washed out, and draining waters formed a 10-foot wide gully in the berm, resulting in about 90 cubic yards of soil washing into the brook and on into the Carrabassett River. Sugarloaf's earlier violation occurred in the 1980s, when it was building the Carrabassett Valley Golf Course. The company dug gravel out of a stream where there were beaver ponds, destroying the area and leaving a large hole in the ground, according to a DEP official. Sugarloaf paid an $8,000 fine by never submitting a required restoration plan and time schedule. The site has since been restored with trees, and DEP has ordered further enhancement of the area.

New USDA office

OXFORD--The Oxford County USDA Service Center is now located in the Oxford Plaza on Route 26. The center is home to the Farm Service Agency, the Natural Resource Conservation Service and the Oxford County Soil & Water District.

fears that it will be only a foot-in-the-door project to open the way eventually for a full-blown gambling casino and associated development. (Such projects were explicitly mentioned in contracts between the tribe and its financier, obtained by Rosenblatt under the federal Freedom of Information Act).

Rosenblatt has questioned the use of the state's resources in defending the bingo-hall proposal.

"The problem of the A.G.'s representation of the tribe is compounded by the fact that the A.G. lends its huge resources and authority to the already apparently unlimited coffers of the tribe's financier, the mostly unknown Tamir Sapir from the former Soviet Republic of Georgia, who has poured huge sums of money into the tribe's effort, obviously standing to make huge gambling profits if they are successful. That the Attorney General of Maine and the Maine Land Use Regulation Commission, both of which entities are supposed to be representing the citizens of Albany Township and of the State, are working so feverishly to advance the narrow pecuniary interests of the tribe and of Tamir Sapir to the obvious detriment of the public at large is disturbing at least."

The briefs already filed in the legal challenge are lengthy, but at the crux of the opponents' case is the argument that LURC misapplied a requirement that the tribe's rezoning petition "satisfy a demonstrated need in the community."

In approving the application, LURC concluded that the economic plight of the tribe at its reservation in Pleasant Point could be used to meet the "community need" requirement.

But, the opponents say, that means stretching the definition of community beyond law and common sense.

Their brief argues: "The Commission's own application form contemplates that the geographic scope of the words 'the community or area' is meant to be that area in the vicinity of the parcel in issue, not hundreds of miles away or in another community or town."

"The Commission's application of the statutory standard in this case is also inconsistent with the plain language of the statute. If, indeed, 'need' could instead be measured in some other communities, then the phrase 'in the community or area' would be unnecessary, since the 'need' could be anywhere. Such a reading would render meaningless the geographic qualifier of 'community or area.' A common sense reading of the statute and ordinary rules of statutory construction which require that, in the absence of special definitions or a legislative intent to the contrary, terms in a statute are to be given their commonly accepted meanings."

Tuesday's hearing will be held at 3 p.m. in the Kennebec County Courthouse, which is located at 95 State Street in Augusta.

The hearing is open to the public, but no public comment will be taken.

The money -- a relatively small amount by recent referendum standards -- would go to support high-tech research and development ($20 million) and environmental cleanup and improvements in drinking water systems ($7 million).

Local races

In this area's state Senate races, the two incumbents, both Republicans, also appear well entrenched.

In District 24, which covers most of the area, state Senator Norm Ferguson of Hanover is seeking a second four-year term.

Ferguson, a former Oxford County Commissioner, is being challenged by political newcomer Rodney Jamison of Peru.

Jamison is an employee of Mead Paper and is also a union representative.

In District 25, which includes West Paris, Rick Bennett is also running for a second term.

A former candidate for the U.S. Congressional seat now held by John Baldacci, Bennett is being challenged by Democrat David Q. Whittier of Hebron, who practices law in South Paris.

In House District 65, which includes most of the Citizen's circulation area, Arlan Jodrey of Bethel is running unopposed to fill the seat being vacated by fellow Republican Al Barth.

An early Democrat challenger for the seat, Pamela Puiia of Hanover, has dropped out of the race.

Barth, who is also from Bethel, has reached the eight-year limit for office holders enacted by Maine voters when they passed the 1998 Term Limits initiative.

In House District 70, which includes Woodstock and Milton, Republican Rob Cameron of South Rumford, has a term left before reaching that limit.

Cameron is being challenged by Democrat Edward Martin, a physician with a family practice in Rumford.

In District 68, which includes Greenwood and West Paris, incumbent Republican Tom Winsor is being challenged by Democrat Dundee Emmeron-Buehl, a small business owner from Norway.

Salaries

Sup. Kent Rosberg. Negotiations Committee chairman Sid Pew cited salary comparison figures for 1997-98, obtained through the board's professional negotiator, to support the raises. Data is included from SADs 39 (Buckfield), 21 (Dixfield), 43 (Rumford), 72 (Fryeburg), 17 (Paris). The latter three districts are much larger than SAD44, while 21 and 39 are similar in size.

Through most of the 35 salary steps for teachers with a bachelor's degree, SAD44 paid the least of the six districts. Near the top of the scale (the most experienced teachers), the district moved up to fourth place.

Master's degrees also low

Comparisons were also made among more districts of comparable size (Livermore Falls, Jay, Phillips, Corinth, Madison and Old Orchard Beach) for teachers with master's degrees. In those comparisons, SAD44 was at the bottom on all but two of the 31 steps.

Pew said this year's raises would generally put SAD44 in the middle of the pack in the 1997-98 comparisons -- but, he said, the other districts would be expected to also give raises this year, likely keeping SAD44 near the bottom.

With many teachers in the district within a few years of retirement, Pew said, he thinks it is important to offer a competitive salary scale in order to find quality replacements for them. "There are a lot of (teaching) jobs available out there," he said. Pew also said a good pay scale is needed to keep current teachers from going elsewhere.

Ray Harrington, director from Greenwood, cast the lone dissenting vote on the salary agreement because, he said, he wanted the overall board vote to be balanced.

"I want them looking over their shoulders," he said of the teachers' union. "If my vote would have nixed the whole deal, I would not have voted the way I did."

Harrington has also consistently voted against paying stipends for coaches and other extra-curricular advisors, saying those activities should be done by teachers on a voluntary basis as an extension of their regular teaching responsibilities. A stipend scale was part of the approved agreement.

Other personnel get raises

In addition to the teachers, salaried SAD44 support staff (including some educational technicians) received a 2.5 percent raise for this year, with 3.25 and 3.5 for the two following years.

Hourly employees, including secretaries and clerks, also received increases, as did the coaches and extra-curricular advisors. Percentages were not available.

Health benefits will remain the same this year and increase 1.5 percent next year, with the third year open for future agreement.

The agreement was negotiated through Drummond Woodson & McMahon lawyer and negotiator Campbell Badger.

CHURCH TO HOST REVIVAL

Clayton Haley of Norway, with special music provided by several area people. Services will be held daily at 7 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday, with the closing service at 10:30 a.m. on Sunday.

The Rev. Haley is currently serving as pastor of the Norway Church of the Nazarene, a position he has held since 1995.

The services are open to the public. For more information call 824-3766.

From the Bethel Police log:

Police busy with summonses, arrests

On Oct. 25 at 1:05 a.m., an officer was following a car northbound on Route 26 at 50 to 55 miles per hour. The vehicle then sped up and pulled away at a very high rate of speed. The officer followed, and when it reached 92 miles per hour by radar, he stopped the car. The driver, Peter Libby (no address or age given) was arrested for criminal speeding.

Wednesday, Oct. 21

At 7 p.m. the president of an area club requested an officer at a meeting at which the president would be terminating some memberships. He said he expected there might be some problems. The persons to be let go did not attend, however, and the officer cleared.

Thursday, Oct. 22

At 7:37 p.m. police responded to an area store for a report the cashier had been threatened. On arrival the officer found the cashier had not been threatened, but the patron had given him a hard time, yelling and swearing at him. The subject, Walter H. Purdey, 58, of Weidman, Mich., was located in Rumford and issued a summons for disorderly conduct.

Friday, Oct. 23

At 10:25 p.m. a subject was stopped on Bridge Street for speeding (51 miles per hour in a 35 m.p.h. zone). It was discovered his registration had expired in May. Jeffrey B. Sommer, 31, of Bethel was given a summons for the offenses.

Saturday, Oct. 24

At 3 p.m. police met with a subject regarding a criminal mischief complaint from a restaurant. The subject, Jonathan McGurn, 20, of Bethel, confessed to vandalism and was issued a summons for criminal mischief.

At 7:25 p.m. police clocked a vehicle on the Sunday River Road at 78 miles per hour. The vehicle was stopped and the driver, Clinton Clark (no age or address given), was given a summons for criminal speeding.

Sunday, Oct. 25

At 10 a.m. a dump truck was stopped on Main Street for operating without an inspection sticker. The operator was found to be driving without a proper class license. Because of the vehicle's condition, Commercial Vehicle Enforcement was notified and a trooper responded to perform an inspection of the vehicle. On completion of his inspection, the trooper issued the vehicle's owner, Jack Cross, summons for the violations he found.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log, but does not include all reports of police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies. An answering machine takes calls when an officer is not in the office.

OCTOBER IS NATIONAL BREAST CANCER

AWARENESS MONTH and

Stephens Memorial Hospital wants to remind women of the importance of early detection in the fight against breast cancer. While it's important that women of all ages should remember to do a self-examination each month, it's vital that women aged 40 and over have annual mammograms.

If you're a woman over 40, you should know about our new Mammography Center opening this November. We've designed our center to be convenient as well as comfortable, with special touches, like a separate waiting area and dressing rooms for patient comfort and privacy. And we've installed the latest equipment to perform outpatient procedures like mammograms and stereotactic biopsies.

Call us at 207-743-5933 or stop by to find out more about our center and what a vital role it can and should play in your life. It's something you really should think about.

Mammograms are covered by Medicare and by most health insurance plans. If you have no insurance or are underinsured, you may qualify for a free mammogram. Ask your physician for more information.

Point of Law:

What are the differences between a civil and a criminal case? — Our legal system recognizes two different kinds of legal cases: civil and criminal. A civil case is one in which a person who has a complaint may bring legal action to protect his or her interests or collect damages. That person is called the plaintiff, petitioner or complainant. The other party, of course, is the defendant or the respondent in the case. In a criminal case, it is the federal, state, or municipal government, which brings action against the defendant in the name of its citizens. Thus, the prosecution of criminal cases is done by the people of the State of Maine, the city of Portland, or all U.S. citizens. The people are represented by a prosecutor; such as the County District Attorney, one Attorney General of the State of Maine, or the United States Attorney General. The accused, who is the defendant in the case, is charged with a crime against society — a violation of law such as murder, burglary, robbery or rape. In a criminal case, where the legal action is initiated by the prosecutor, it is the prosecutor who decides whether to bring charges. The prosecutor must then prove the case beyond a reasonable doubt. While this does not mean proof beyond all possible doubt, it is a heavier burden of proof than required in a civil case. If anyone is involved in a civil or criminal case be sure to obtain legal advice.

To learn more about what one should do if involved in a civil or criminal case, call Tel-Law, a public service of the Maine State Bar Association. Tel-Law can be reached at 207-622-1470, Ext. 255.

The program will stand alone, she said, meaning the students would have to reapply for admission to Gould as ninth-graders.

The timing of the decision to implement the eighth-grade program "dovetails with recent building and renovation projects at Gould, featuring the Gould/Sunday River Competition Center and Ordway and Gehring Halls," said Simard. "From the point of view of the Admissions Office, this decision allows Gould to be competitive with other schools which offer top level ski racing programs and admit eighth-grade students at the same time they qualify by age to become Junior III racers."

Gould also offers a high school level ski program for students who are freestyle skiers. But, said Simard, there currently is not sufficient demand to include eighth-grade freestyle students in the new offering.

If the racing/academic program proves successful, Gould will add a boarding option for eight to 12 students beginning next school year. Simard said there are no plans currently to eventually expand the eighth-grade program to a full school year.

The day-long conference will develop an action plan to organize a council, decide who should be involved, what steps should be taken and when and what organizational structure should be used. Possible council activities will also be discussed. The draft mission statement for the proposed council is "to improve environmental quality and promote healthy and prosperous communities in the Androscoggin River Watershed."

The conference is sponsored by the Androscoggin Valley Council of Governments and North Country Council.

Mason Township

by Richard Grover

They're in. Rupert and Ina moved into their new house last Friday. Several relatives helped break in the new house with couple card games that evening. There's plenty of room, but a few finishing details remain to be completed.

Things get pretty quiet at the shop at times, and we have to work keeping from getting bored. One thing we do is take note of the little highlights, which on Fridays is the

"uni-man," who brings clean uniforms and picks up the dirty ones. Eeyore and I have been wagging on the expected arrival time of the

"uni-man," who usually arrives between 11 and 12 a.m. Now I don't generally boast, but I do have to point out that Eeyore has picked the closest time only once, in the "numerous" times that we have wagered.

Last Friday was no different. My guess was 11:21, and "uni-man" ar rived about 11:23. Shortly there after, I noticed that Eeyore was out side, peering into the door of the

"uni-van," a bread truck-type van with only a single seat for the driver.

Being a suspicious type, I figured he might be planning some kind of collusion with "uni-man," you know, to improve his chances for next week.

Hence, I went out to check out the situation. To my surprise, "uni-man" was nowhere to be seen, and Eeyore, pointed out a small cylinder mounted behind and below the driver's seat in the "uni-van."

A plastic tube ran from the cylinder to the middle bottom of the seat.

Something clicked in my mind when I saw the compressor cylinder, which was about the size of a Camp bell Souper can.

It reminded me of a similar size can I saw a few years ago, when I was teaching math to some rowdy seventh-graders in Gorham, N.H. In that case one of the boys brought one of those cans containing human effluvia.

At any rate, we asked the "uni-man," when he came out, if he was canning "effluvia."

He was a little chagrined, and took pains to explain how that was an "air ride seat" and he really needed it off

"these rough Maine roads around here." Some people just don't understand how hard we have to work to find humor at the shop some days.

Sunday River Valley

by Rockie Graham

It's Sunday, and another beautiful weekend is over. Saturday was sunny, warm, and spring-like, again. Sunday was nice, also. What a great fall we have had.

Last week's column was not printed, but I noticed that the important things got in. I'd like to reiterate the following from Nancy Babcock: On Saturday, Oct. 31, the Newry Recreation Committee and the Newry Mothers' Club will be sponsoring a Halloween Party for Newry children and their friends. It will be a costume party with games, prizes and Halloween goodies and treats. It will be held at the Newry Town Office from 1 to 3 p.m.

On Friday, Oct. 30, the Newry Recreation Committee and the Mahoosuc Arts Council will co-sponsor Fiddle Box, a group of Maine fiddlers. Fiddle Box will play dance tunes and there will be a caller for anyone who wants to dance. This should be a fun affair. It will be held at the Greenwood Town Hall from 7 to 9 p.m.

Traveling down Sunday River Road, I noticed how quiet it is. There seemed to be very little activity and I was jealous. The road in front of our house seems to be so busy these days. Cars go by at rather fast speeds and there seems to be no concern for the residents, walkers, etc., on the road. I worry someone will be run over, soon.

Driving around at this time of year, it is impossible not to notice the beauty all around. I drove to Cape Elizabeth, last weekend, with Jody Carter and we took the back roads. We passed many incredible vistas as we headed south. In Cape Elizabeth, we saw trees that were still green, but along the way, we saw many that were orange, yellow and brown. It was a glorious time to be traveling. We went to Cape Elizabeth for a fund raiser for Congressman John Baldacci. The highlight was a visit by David Baldacci, author of "Absolute Power" and other novels. David is not a known relative of John's, but the name being so unusual, it is thought that they must be related somewhere back when.

This past week, Linda came by with a pair of binoculars and we looked at the new condo/town house-type structures. They look like odd moonscapes that have blossomed this summer, like so many odd toadstools. From that distance, I couldn't see color but the structures appeared gray or brown. Perhaps they will make it easier for the pipeliners to have places to stay as it gets colder.

I paid a visit to John and Yvonne Nowlin. John is recuperating from surgery and is hoping to have his strength back soon. I sure hope he drives feel stronger soon.

The wood is all in at last. It is hard to believe, but it should be ready by winter. Of course, now we have to worry about the holes that Tasha has dug. Some are so big that I can stand in them up to my chest. It is amazing to watch her in the holes with only her tail sticking out. It does make it dangerous to walk nearby, though. Even Tasha has fallen in the holes. I twist my ankle on a regular basis. Her latest escapade is the red squirrels that have been tormenting her. She actually got one this a.m., but there are four or five more that we've seen. She also is after the mice that were hiding in the wood. My bet is on the mother cat that had kittens in the barn across the street.

Have a good week, don't forget the Halloween party and dance and the Bethel Outing Club Ski Sale and Swap on Friday night and Saturday. And before you next read this column, it will be time to vote.

Don't forget that Election Day is Nov. 3.

Greenwood City

The neighborhood seems quiet and empty since school started. There is a feeling of strangeness and my feeling is that time is going much too fast.

Now when dusk comes coolness overlaps the warmth of the day. Darkness folds down earlier over our countryside and a sense of peace and serenity envelops us.

October days, in-between days, with their clear days, are between and free of the heat of summer and not yet too cold, just pleasant.

As I was walking one day a butterfly fluttered over my head looking ever so bright and summery against the subdued colors in the background. Soon another, and then another came flitting along; the monarch butterflies. They had emerged from the chrysalis stage from among our many milkweed plants and now fly by the roadsides and over the meadows. They are a coppery red beauty with white dots on the black-bordered, black-veined wings and are as colorful as the field lilies. The inch long chrysalis is the most beautiful of all butterfly chrysalises. It is smooth and green and dotted with gold. Occasionally one was brought to school in early September. We passed the "jewel" and a twig in a pail or box and covered the container with a net. When the butterfly came from the chrysalis it would crawl upon the twig, head down to await the unfolding of its damp, crumpled wings. When they were dry, widespread and beautiful, we gently placed him (without touching the wings) on a flower. He would fly across the sky to join others, we hoped, on his way to the sunny southland.

These fragile insects are as successful at migration as most birds, but it seems incredible, but true.

In spring/Gleaming red, veined in jet/Dotted with pearls in ebony set/Sky-borne Monarch, immigrant/Northward lured by milkweed plant/In autumn wings flower-wreathed/in a fading tree/Then petal-tossed to a tropic sky/A horned urge, an ecstasy/In so frail a thing as a butterfly!

The day ended, a lovely sunset. The moon rose. Stars sprinkled the sky. Night.

I have had several visitors this week, whom I have enjoyed. Rena Curtis had a few days of illness but is well again. Her two daughters, Colista and Lillian, came to visit and help her.

Hi readers. Not much news this week. Albert has been delivering a lot of wood this past week and I went with him a few times and we had lunch out.

Tuesday, Frances Grant and I went to our Aunt Goldie Wight's grave in Gilead cemetery and planted some tulip bulbs and put red flowers and greens on. We had lunch at Breau's and then put remembrance flowers on Junior Bennett's grave at Bethel. It was a beautiful day and it gave us a good chance to visit and gave me a chance to get more used to the "new" wheels. I haven't wanted to trade cars, but after 10 years decided it was time. It does take getting used to just like getting new eye glasses.

Upton

Is everyone getting ready for winter yet? It will be here before we know it. Has everyone seen all the little ladybugs this past week? That warm day sure brought them out. I think it was Saturday and Sunday we saw so many.

Yesterday, I picked up Matthew Nelson from the Lovell Historical Society Building in Lovell, where he was working on a history project for school, and got a short tour of the place. Mary Nelson, Barbara Eastman, Patricia Foley, Irene Dunham and Roberta Chandler were all there working on the historical items and pictures and getting things sorted and in order.

What a lot of work to be done there and Lovell should be so thankful and proud to have so many people give of their time and talent.

Our sympathy and prayers go out to the family of Helen Strout, who passed away Monday, Oct. 19. She and Harold were our next door neighbors and were at their son and wife's home visiting at the time in Falmouth.

People, don't forget to vote on Nov. 3rd. We should all be interested and get involved in our town, state and government affairs (that's not the right word, is it?); but you know what, I mean - just learn up and go vote. It will make a difference, you know.

Last year we got a snowstorm on Oct. 27th. When will it be this year? Soon, I bet.

Last week, we had moose meat for supper and bear meat for breakfast. Hope things don't get too wild around here. By the way, Frances Gram saw a large moose one day this past week when he crossed the road up by the Gladys Kilgore house and Brenda Files house.

It was an ideal fall weekend, with cool mornings and gradual warming through the day. Pre-winter chores were finalized.

Earlier in the week, Ray Bernier reported a quarter inch of snow on Back Street. Liz Stanczyk drove through an inch of snow in Dixville Notch on her way to work at the Balsams.

Lucille and Earl Largesse were honored at the Chefs Dinner on the occasion of their retirement. They plan to pursue their travel plans and attend as many car races as they can. Good luck to them, they certainly have earned a rest.

Larry Nelson and Roger Lavallee climbed up to the bell tower to assess its condition and secure it for the winter. As we have mentioned before, it will be repaired in the spring.

Simonne and Roger Lavallee traveled to Norfolk, Va., recently visiting with Roger's daughter, Donna.

Bob Monroe and Al Gagnon both forgot to turn their clocks back on Saturday night. They were quite happy with a few extra days of daylight savings time.

If all the crocus, tulip and daffodil bulbs that were planted around town last week bloom in the spring, Upton will look like Holland. Well, not exactly, because the voles and other little creatures will be sure to get 50 percent of them.

The bird of the week honor goes to the hawks which fly over daily to wherever they go. Buster Williamson sees the eagle almost every day. Food must be getting scarce because there are very few ducks left. We are down to regular resident birds -- doves, chickadees, nuthatches, a few finches and a yellow shafted flicker, that doesn't know enough to leave town.

The Upton Selectmen report that the town is ready for winter with a good salted sand pile and a new truck being outfitted with plow and sander.

On Sunday afternoon, I attended a 60th wedding anniversary for Eunice and Norman Thurston of Erol, N.H. Congratulations to the happy couple.

The sunsets in Upton in October are very beautiful. The mountains, the lake and sky combine to make a panoramic scene that is hard to beat. The only trouble with it this week is that it is one hour earlier than last week when we were on Daylight Savings Time.

West Paris

by Miriam Inman
Twenty-one members enjoyed a potluck at the West Paris Historical Building on Monday night.

Final plans were made for the hunters and family breakfast to be served on Saturday, Oct. 31, from 5 to 8:30 a.m. Eleanor Inman will be in charge of posters; Sayward and Cynthia Lamb will purchase the necessary groceries. Many of the members volunteered to come and serve it. The tables will be set up on Friday evening. After the meeting, Milton Inman showed slides of people and places and a few reminders of January's ice storm to refresh our memory. The next meeting will be on Nov. 16 for a ham supper. Committee will be Betty Jones, Harlan Abbott and Vern and Miriam.

The Universalist Church Board Pastor Rodney Hanscom at the pulpit and daughter Nancy at the organ. Prelude by Jay Hanscom and responsive reading by Bob Munro. The message of the day was "Beauty" from Rev. 21:23, "And the city had no need of the sun, neither of the moon, to shine in it; for the Glory of God, did lighten it. And the Lamb is the light thereof." Then hymn, benediction and postlude.

Sylvia and Bill Wight treated Gil to a boiled dinner given by the Rumford Grange on Sunday. It was delicious.

Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley, Doris Parent, Bea Lowell and Eleanor Davis were at the Oxford Lanes in Rumford doing some bowling for fun one day last week. On the overall scores, Betsy was high on the triples, but tied with Gil on the singles. She had four spares, Gil three spares and Karlene two spares.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lowell Sr. have been Charles Moore of Roundup, Mont.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ennis of Arlington, Vt.; Mrs. David White and son, Mark, of Sterling, Ark., and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Miller of Soldotna, Ark.

In the recent moose hunt, Frank Lowell Jr. was a lucky hunter with a large female, David, Danny and Frank Lowell Sr. with Allen Lariviere of Rumford accompanied Frank.

This week at the

Moses Mason House

Herbert Adams of the Friends of C.A. Stephens will be the featured speaker at the Nov. 5 monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society to be held in the Dr. Moses Mason House meeting room at 7:30 p.m. His topic will be "Greenwood in the Forties: Addison E. Verrill and his World."

Adams, a former State Representative from Portland, is a graduate of the University of Southern Maine. With family ties to the Oxford County towns of Stoneham and Norway, he has written and lectured widely on historical subjects, some of them relating to western Maine. He and Larry Glatz, also of the friends of C.A. Stephens, are currently editing Verrill's memories of growing up in Greenwood in the 1840s for publication.

Verrill, a Greenwood native, born in 1839, collected his memories of his native town in the form of newspaper articles published in 1914-15 in the Norway Advertiser. These have now been annotated and edited for publication following Adams' discovery of a notebook containing these clippings with Verrill's handwritten annotations at the Maine Historical Society. Verrill, who studied under Louis Agassiz at Harvard, achieved national fame as the first professor of zoology at Yale University in 1864. Author of several books and over 350 papers on zoological and geological subjects, he died in 1926. Anyone interested in this topic is cordially invited to attend.

Davis Family donation

Walter H. Hatch, president of the Bethel Historical Society, announced this week that the Davis Family Foundation of Falmouth has awarded the society a $25,000 grant for its capital campaign. The gift will assist the society in acquiring the 1821 O'Neil Robinson House, to become another museum facility for the organization.

"We are very pleased with this gift," said Hatch in making the announcement, "and we are very grateful to the trustees of the Davis Family Foundation in making it possible."

The Davis Family Foundation is a public charitable foundation established in 1986 by Mr. and Mrs. H. Halsey Davis of Falmouth to support areas of particular interest to them, including colleges, universities, and other educational institutions, as well as hospitals, clinics, medical organizations, and entities whose customary and primary activity is to promote music, drama, history, literature, the arts or other similar cultural activity.

The Robinson House is located next to the society's present headquarters, the Dr. Moses Mason House. Following renovation, the Robinson House will provide for improved storage and greater access to collections as well as rooms devoted to exhibits, educational activities, research, traditional crafts and museum store operations. This donation and others like it will make it possible for the society to offer an even more ambitious program of lectures, conferences, workshops, special events and publications relating to Northern New England.

To learn more about this project, call the society at 824-2908 or 1-800-824-2910 or use its e-mail address (history@bdc.bethel.me.us) or mailing address: P.O. Box 12, Bethel, ME 04217-0012.

Bennett publishes history of Gorham, N.H.

Following closely on the heels of his book about the famous "Moon Tide Spring" on Mount Zircon near Rumford, Bethel historian Randall Bennett has edited and re-published a relatively unknown 19th century history of the town of Gorham, N.H.

Bennett, curator of the Bethel Historical Society, recently completed his 11th book project -- the transcribing, editing and correcting of Gorham's earliest town history, compiled in 1882 by Dr. Nathaniel Tuckerman True, a Pownal native who was once principal at Bethel's Gould Academy as well as head of a "select high school" in Gorham in the early 1880s. Originally issued in installments in Gorham's weekly newspaper, "The Mountaineer," Dr. True's "History of Gorham, New Hampshire" has been transformed into a 160-page book, complete with period engravings and maps and an entirely new index.

"This has been a lengthy, but rewarding project," said Bennett, who authored an illustrated history of the White Mountain region in 1994 that contains a section on Gorham. "I've long felt that Dr. True's research into Gorham's past deserved an audience beyond the few local and regional historians who are familiar with it." That fact, combined with the difficulty of locating issues of the century-old Gorham paper in which the history originally appeared, led Bennett to commit many months of effort reworking True's findings into a publishable book manuscript. "His columns needed to be reorganized, and such things as capitalization, punctuation and spelling needed to be standardized, but Dr. True is still there telling the story, which is as it should be," said Bennett. Based on the book's length and the number of entries in the new index, it seems clear that True had much to say about Gorham and its citizens.

According to Bennett's introduction, True's account chronicles a particularly fascinating period of Gorham's past, one during which the town evolved from a sleepy wilderness settlement on the Androscoggin River to a thriving railroad and tourist center in the northern White Mountain region. Settled in 1802 by Bezaleel Bennett (no known relation to the editor of the "History") and incorporated in 1836, Gorham was strongly influenced by the arrival of the Atlantic & St. Lawrence Railroad in 1851. Repair shops were soon erected, and hundreds of families, many from Great Britain, promptly moved to Gorham, increasing its population four-fold before the Civil War began.

Besides providing many details about the far-reaching effects of the railroad, the history goes on to cover numerous other subjects, including local Indians, early settlers, the Great Freshet of 1826 (in which the Willey family of Crawford Notch was destroyed), Gorham Village, hotels and boarding houses, Civil War soldiers and genealogical sketches of many local families. These sketches, which comprise the largest chapter in the book, are now referenced through a 24-page index prepared by Bennett, an avid genealogist himself. "True's history should open up many new avenues for those tracing their roots to northern New Hampshire or western Maine," commented Bennett.

This is not the first time Bennett has been involved with the writings of Dr. N.T. True, who is credited with founding Maine's first "Farmer's Club," a progenitor of the Grange, at Bethel in 1853. In 1994, Heritage Books of Bowie, Md., reissued True's 1859 "History of Bethel, Maine" with editorial revisions carried out by Bennett, and he has written a number of articles about True's multi-faceted career as historian, scientist, teacher and physician. "During his day Dr. True was a regional historian of the first order," Bennett said, "and I'm delighted to have played a part in the re-discovery of some of his valuable work documenting this part of northern New England."

Information on the availability of the new Gorham history can be had by calling the Bethel Historical Society at 824-2908 or by contacting Bennett at P.O. Box 891, Bethel, ME 04217.

COLLECTING EVIDENCE—The students in Linda Kuzyk's fifth grade class at Crescent Park conducted studies recently on the science/math theme of "patterns." In the process of solving a "crime" as part of their science program, they learned about fingerprinting. After doing their own fingerprints and identifying their fingerprint formulas, they were visited by Bethel Police Chief Darren Tripp, who taught them about professional fingerprinting. After Bethel officer Nate Wight staged a mock burglary in the classroom, Tripp dusted for fingerprints and showed how the process is used to identify a criminal. Here, he obtains prints from a window.

High School Girls' Varsity Soccer

Gould 3, C.V.A. 2; Oct. 21--Betsy Capone scored Gould's first goal, barely a minute into the game, off an assist from Kendrah White. Kate Warner followed with her first of two unassisted goals a few minutes later. The score remained at 2-0 until late in the second half, when Warner kicked in her second goal of the game. C.V.A. scored with four minutes remaining in the second half, then again with three minutes remaining, but Gould was able to hang on for the win. Natalie Rodenberg played an outstanding game in goal, as Gould's season record went to 8-0.

Gould 8, Brewster 1; Oct. 24--Betsy Capone scored three goals and had one assist, and Megan Flaherty, Ellie Scribner, Laura Jenks, Kendrah White, and Damaris Drummond picked up one goal apiece. Flaherty had two assists in the game, and Scribner had one. According to coach Lauren Head, "The fact that six people scored the goals for Gould demonstrated good distribution of the ball and good overall team play. Defensively, Gould allowed only two shots on goal."

From

Gould Academy

After a week of rain, Gould was blessed with a glorious fall weekend for its annual Parents' Weekend. Highlights of this year's weekend included the teacher conferences and Kents Hill matches on the playing fields, a morning of fabulous student music arranged by new Performing Arts Chair Jim McLaughlin, and some exciting announcements.

There will be another new addition to campus this year -- a student-constructed barn to be located behind the softball field. In keeping with the "bone deep values" of his northern New England upbringing, as Dean of Faculty Mac Davis puts it, Headmaster Bill Clough intends the barn to house livestock and be an opportunity for self-discovery through true hands-on experience.

This year's 9th grade class will travel to Hungary for an exchange with Varga Katalin Gimnazium in Szolnok as part of the annual Four Points Program in March. This announcement was made as Gould kicked off a two-week visit with friends from the Christophorus School in Droyssig, Germany, with whom Gould has had an exchange for the past two years. The German students stayed with local families and visited numerous Maine and New England landmarks while getting a taste of the Gould Academy experience.

This year's annual parent auction, held on Saturday evening, was once again a tremendous success, grossing $38,700. The proceeds raised help fund the Four Points programs and allow Gould students to take advantage of many unique experiences during eight days in March each year.

A LOG SCHOOL AT THE MORRISON FARM, SUNDAY RIVER VALLEY, RILEY PLANTATION, CA. 1900. This is believed to be the place where Kenneth Roberts wrote part of his classic book, "Northwest Passage." This photograph is but one of thousands owned by the Bethel Historical Society, which also possesses an outstanding collection of manuscripts, books, documents, and artifacts relating to western Maine and northern New Hampshire. The society is currently raising funds for its proposed Center for Regional History on Broad Street, which will also provide for improved storage and greater access to collections as well as rooms devoted to exhibits, educational activities, research, traditional crafts, and museum shop operations. To learn more about this project, call the society at 824-2908 or 1-800-824-2910, or use the e-mail address (history@bdc.bethel.me.us), or visit the society's web site (<http://orion.bdc.bethel.me.us/history>).

Obituaries

HARRY R. BURGESS

Harry R. Burgess, 91, died Wednesday, Oct. 14, 1998, at Stephens Memorial Hospital, where he had been a patient a short time. Born in Auburn on April 6, 1907, he was the son of the late Alton L. and Olive A. (Buck) Burgess. He received his education in the Peru and Dixfield schools.

A farmer for most of his life, Harry raised steers and milk cattle from his farm, the One-Acre Farm on the Heikkilin Road in South Woodstock. He also ran a store in the South Woodstock area for several years. The past several years Harry made pine wood baskets, which people would generally use as flower planters. Harry enjoyed volunteering his talents to help his communities and volunteered many hours helping to build the grandstands at the West Paris baseball field.

A member of the New England Oxen and Team Association and the Milk and Short Horn Association of the United States of America, he was a fixture at many county fairs. Many good friends claim that Harry did not miss a single county fair in the State of Maine for the past 50 years. He had attended the Oxford County Fair so often that the "Lewiston Sun Journal" recently wrote an article about his unprecedented attendance at that fair. He will be remembered as a well-known local character around the towns of West Paris and Woodstock.

His many long-time friends survive Harry.

Graveside services were held on Wednesday, Oct. 28, at the South Woodstock Cemetery, Andrews Road, South Woodstock. Those who wish may make donations to help furnish a memorial marker for Harry. Donations may be sent to Gavin Hutchinson, 64 Andrews Road, Bryant Pond, ME 04219.

He was discharged at the end of the war, and in 1947 enlisted in the U.S. Navy. After training he served as a hospital corpsman at Base Hospital, Great Lakes, Ill., and later with the 2nd Marine Division at Camp Lejeune, N.C. While stationed at Great Lakes, he played on a Navy basketball team that traveled about playing other military base teams and small colleges.

He managed a small coffee shop in Washington, D.C., called Little Tavern. He also drove a taxi cab in Washington, D.C. for several years.
